

Communication and Health Disparities.

Wednesday, Oct. 10, 1:00 - 2:30, Location to be announced at a future date - but it will be on South Campus.

Dr. Kasisomayajula (Vish) Viswanath, Associate Professor, Society, Human Development and Health, Harvard School of Public Health, will make a UML presentation about health communications and health disparities. This is being sponsored by the Center for Public Health Research and Health Promotion (soon to be named the Center for Public Health). We will provide more information about this presentation shortly, but you can read a description of Dr. Viswanath's work at the link below. We encourage you to have your students attend this presentation. If you will have a good number of students attending, please let Barbara Mawn know so that we get a room that can hold all who want to attend. (Barbara_Mawn@uml.edu).
