

WILLIAM MASS

Associate Professor

Department of Regional Economic and Social Development

University of Massachusetts Lowell

William_Mass@uml.edu

William Mass has a Ph.D. in Economics from Boston College and an M.P.H. from Harvard School of Public Health. He is currently an Associate Professor in the Department of Regional Economic and Social Development and the Co-director of the Center for Industrial Competitiveness at the University of Massachusetts Lowell. His research and teaching interests include technological and organizational change, comparative industrial development, local and regional development policies.