Passionate about sustainability, Gerald Lemay applies sustainability as a Professor in the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering at UMass Dartmouth. His favorite courses are the collaborative Engineering IMPULSE program, the Principles of Sustainability Honors course, and the senior technical elective Power Systems courses. As a Licensed Electrical Engineer, he helps plan utility-intertie renewable energy systems in Massachusetts. His 1999 sabbatical project, the Solar Van, was published in Home Power magazine. He is currently involved with the Peace Studies Group at UMass Dartmouth where he presents seminars on conflict resolution through the martial art called Aikido. His other interests include music and healing arts.
