Performance Calendar for Spring 2012

Occasionally it is necessary to change the date/time of a scheduled concert. If you are traveling a distance, you may call the Department of Music Office at 978-934-3850, Monday-Friday, 9 - 5 to be sure a particular concert is as scheduled. Admission is free (unless noted) and open to the community. Durgin Hall is located at 35 Wilder Street, Lowell-- Durgin Concert Hall is located on the first floor and Fisher Recital Hall on the lower level.

Schedule as of April 10, 2012

February

Wednesday February 22 Faculty Recital Series – Guitar Faculty Fischer Recital Hall
7:30 P.M.

Guitar faculty member Rick Schilling presents an exciting evening of guitar music. Cliff Tette on Clarinets and Saxophone playing jazz selections from the American Songbook also joins him.

Thursday February 23 Music on the Merrimack Concert Series Concert Hall
New World Jazz Composers Octet 7:30 P.M.

The New World Jazz Composers Octet was organized over 11 years ago by Berklee faculty member Daniel Ian Smith as an aggregation dedicated to the performance of new music. The impressive list of players, all with international performing credentials, includes Daniel and Dino Govoni on woodwinds, Ken Cervenka and UML Music Faculty member, Walter Platt, on trumpets, Tim Ray on piano, Keala Kaumeheiwa on bass, and Steve Langone and Ernesto Diaz on drums and percussion. To have a group of great ensemble players who are also stellar soloists is a rarity—it's a dream come true for contemporary composers.

March

Friday March 2 Hellenic Echoes: Ancient to Modern Fischer Recital Hall
7:30 P.M.

The UML Music Department, in partnership with the History Department and the Hellenic Studies Center, will present an unprecedented night of culture, history and music of Greece and Hellenes. Ranging from Rembetika (urban folk songs) to the modernist works of Iannia Xennakis, the concert will juxtapose the historical range of Greek music from secular to sacred. The musical program will also include setting a Homeric hymn to modern music and songs by local members of a Hellenic Orthodox choir. The evening promises to present a tapestry of sounds like no other.

Monday March 5 University Wind Ensemble Concerto Concert Hall
Competition Concert 7:30 P.M.

Dan Lutz, Conductor

UML Concert Competition winner, Liam Sheehy performs the Vaughan Williams Concerto for Tuba. The program also includes music by Hindemith, Holsinger and Margolis.

Tuesday March 6 Mothers of Rock Annual Concert Concert Hall
Sponsored by MEISA 7:30 P.M.

Part of Women's Week In Lowell, this is a tribute to women in the music industry, spotlighting performers from UML & the community with songs originally written or performed by female musicians. Free; donations accepted. Proceeds will go to MEISA and Girls, Inc. of Lowell.

Wednesday March 7 University Orchestra Concert Concert Hall
Mark Latham, Conductor 7:30 P.M.

Featuring Beethoven's Symphony No. 5, Grieg's Holberg Suite for String Orchestra and "Jupiter" and "Mars" from Holst's The Planets.

Thursday	March 8	Music on the Merrimack Concert Series The Lindsays	Concert Hall 7:30 P.M.
		The Lindsays are a husband-and-wife Celtic duo that for more than ten years have created an eclectic fusion of Irish ballads, traditional jigs and reels, and contemporary rock and folk for an honest acoustic delivery – with an edge. The Lindsays swing smoothly from traditional jigs and reels to an earthy full-band configuration that includes fiddle, bass, percussion, and sometimes more.
