Fall 2008, Vol. 1

Faculty Development Center

Our mission:

To build faculty excellence across the university by integrating teaching, research, and service through collaboration that promotes a scholarly approach to evaluation and assessment, innovation in the curriculum and instruction, the use of current technologies (media), and faculty recognition.

Development opportunities and other events:

Fridays with Faculty - informal lunchtime meetings with quick take-aways on topics relevant to faculty teaching. Generally, these are held on the last Friday of each month during the Fall and Spring Semesters.

Conversation Dinners – unite faculty from all disciplines in interactive discussion and a dinner that focuses on at least one aspect of the integration of teaching, research and service, offered at the beginning of the Fall and Spring semesters.

Faculty Institutes - one to three day faculty institutes in winter and summer. Faculty Institutes are mini-courses offered to faculty that enrich faculty in the areas of pedagogy, technology, and assessment to name a few.
