“Working on campus has made me feel more invested in the UMass Lowell community and also in my education.”
Welcome to the UMass Lowell Student Employment Program. With approximately 1,000 participants in the program each year, students are able to choose from a wide variety of positions on campus. These positions offer students flexibility in scheduling, a comfortable work environment and a competitive salary. Whether building on existing skills or adding new skill sets, students are able to enhance their résumès while earning money to defray the cost of their education.

Read through this booklet carefully and use the Student Employment To-Do List on the back cover to help get you started. Visit our website (uml.edu/studentemployment) and follow us on Facebook at UMLstudentemployment for additional details.

All future student employment communications will be sent to your UMass Lowell student email address. Please feel free to contact the Student Employment Office at Student_Jobs@uml.edu if you have any questions. We are happy to assist you.

Eligibility to participate in the Student Employment Program is based on filing a FAFSA form and your financial need. Students are offered student employment awards as part of their need-based financial aid package. Only students who were offered UML employment or federal work-study awards are eligible to work through the student employment program.

The university does not place students into positions. We feel it is important for students to find the position and supervisor that is right for them. Most student employment positions are located on campus. Students can apply for general employment positions at $11/hour. Some positions that require specialized skills start at $12/hour.

Students who receive a student employment award as part of their financial aid package may opt to participate in the Community Service Program. Wages typically start at $12/hour. These positions are located off campus, primarily within the Merrimack Valley.

Employing students in community-service based jobs not only helps to serve the needs of our community but also gives students enriching and rewarding real-life experiences. Examples of community-service work include tutoring in a local school system through the Jumpstart program, working with city hall officials, assisting in an IT office, organizing summer concert series or repertory theater shows, planting a community garden or developing community-based programs.

All current listings for open positions can be found through JobHawk, our online student employment system, uml.edu/studentemployment. Training materials for this system can be found on the Students page within JobHawk.

The Early Bird Catches the Worm!
You can begin your job search in JobHawk as early as August 1.

You must complete some federally required employment forms before you begin working. You should not begin working until you receive a confirmation email from our office.

Using Your Award to Pay Your Tuition Bill
Your student employment award does not guarantee a job on campus. The award allows you to apply for positions that require student employment funds. The award amount does not automatically get deducted from your tuition bill.

You have an option to automatically assign 70 percent of your earnings to your bill. By enrolling in this program you authorize the university to apply 70 percent of your biweekly earnings toward your bill, receiving the remaining 30 percent for your own use. For more information, please visit our website.
Flexible Work Schedules and Financial Benefits!

Gaining valuable work experience and earning money to help with educational expenses are only two of the advantages of working through the Student Employment program. Student employment supervisors recognize that you are a student first.

They will work with you to set up a work schedule that meets both their needs and yours. You’ll also obtain transferable skills, explore career options and work with faculty and staff.
