

Matching Activity

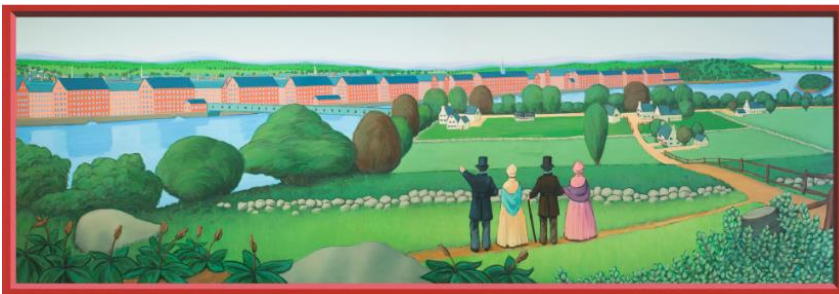

Look closely at the three pictures, then read the descriptions. Match each picture with the paragraph that best describes it.

In this image you can see animals and lots of wide-open space. There is a river with blue water and vegetables growing in fields. In the distance there are a few houses. The people who lived here are farmers whose ancestors moved to this land from other countries. Farm families make their own food from growing vegetables and raising animals.

In this image there is a river with blue water, but no gardens or vegetables. There are pathways where people walk. You can see many big brick buildings in the distance, with a few houses. The big brick buildings are mills where people use machines to make cloth.

In this image you can see lots of trees and an animal. There is a shelter where people sleep. The shelter is called a wigwam. There is a river with blue water and vegetables growing in a small garden. The people who live on this land are called the Pennacook. They grow their own vegetables, make clothing from animals such as deer, and catch fish in the river.