Statement of Inclusion

We, the members of Residence Life at the University of Massachusetts Lowell, strive to cultivate an inclusive community that encourages self-awareness and embraces all expression of identities, including but not limited to; people of all abilities, ages, ethnicities, classes, genders, gender expressions, national origins, races, religions, sexes, sexual orientations, and veteran status within our campus community and the greater Lowell community.

We expect a culture that constructively confronts acts of intolerance and disrespect. We are strongly committed to creating an inclusive and healthy community which promotes a socially just environment.
