Revised November 22, 2017
Before Arriving — Make sure you know where you are going and who is picking you up!

DO’S & DONTS

✔ Make sure you request your airport pick up through our partner vendor here
✔ Make sure that you have a place to stay upon arrival (whether this means staying in a local hotel for a few days, or meeting a friend), this should ALREADY be set up prior to you boarding the plane
✔ If you are meeting a friend, make sure you have their contact information (email, phone number, a second number if applicable, their address, etc)
✔ Make sure you received your Airport Pick-up Confirmation prior to boarding

✘ Board your plane prior to confirming your airport pick up
✘ Arrive in the U.S. without temporary housing (through a hotel or through a friend/family member) if you plan on looking for an off-campus apartment
✘ Arrive with a plan to meet someone whom you do not have their contact information (phone #, address, etc)

The ISSO works with an Airport Transportation company in the area, that will be able to pick you up so long as you put in the request in advance. The ISSO covers this cost. This is not an automatic service, and you will need to follow the directions in order to request this. Please access the Airport Transportation form here.

Please note that while we are happy to offer this service and absorb the cost, we will not be able to reimburse any student who chooses to be picked up by an alternative company, or other means of transportation.

If you have a contact person whom you are meeting upon your arrival to the city of Lowell, you should have their email address, phone number and local address. If the driver brings you to the Lowell area and you are not able to get in touch with the person whom you planned on meeting, the driver will either bring you to University Crossing (if it is open) or a nearby hotel. You will then be responsible for relocating your bags from University Crossing or the nearby hotel, to your semester accomodations. Additionally, please note that the ISSO is only open Monday – Friday 9:00a.m. – 4:30 p.m.

Renting an Apartment

Decisions you will need to make:

- What is your annual budget (including monthly rent, heat, hot water and broker’s fee)?
- What kind of house type are you looking for (house or apartment)?
- How close do you want to live to UMass Lowell, and which campus?
- Do you want to live alone or have roommates, what kind of roommate do you want?
- Are you bringing family/children that need to attend public school? If so, we can provide you with additional information.
- Are you looking for a furnished or unfurnished apartment?

Other considerations:

- What is the lease commitment? (For your first rental, upon arrival, it is advisable not to sign a one-year lease until you are more familiar with the renting process, location, etc.)
- How safe is the neighborhood?
- Are heating and hot water included with your monthly rent?
- Is there a basement laundry, or is it near to any public laundry?
- Will the apartment be noisy? (Is it near an elevator or entry? Are the walls thin? Do your neighbors party a lot?)
- Is the apartment, especially the kitchen and bathroom, in good and clean condition?
- Are you allowed to keep your bicycle in your apartment or in the basement?
- Are there any security features (particularly for ground floor apartments)?
- What is the overall size of living space?
- If you have roommates, how will the utility bills be shared?
- Is there sufficient natural sunlight and/or overhead light fixtures?
- Is the apartment close to public transportation?
- Is there a grocery store or shopping nearby?
- Is there any parking space if you intend to own a car in the near future?

The local newspaper, The Lowell Sun, (www.lowellsun.com) is a good resource of information regarding apartments for rent.

Also, there are several rental agencies that can help you find an apartment. A few of them are listed on the next page. (Please note this list is provided for your convenience and does not constitute an endorsement of these agencies by the University.)

Applying for a Nonimmigrant Visa

If you are in the U.S. and are transferring from another U.S. institution, be sure to register with our office during the first five days of the semester. We will finalize the transfer process during the first week of the semester and issue you a new Form I-20. If you plan to travel outside of the U.S., after being issued the visa document from our office, please consult us for travel advice before departing the U.S.

If you are outside of the U.S., you should apply for F-1 or J-1 or H-1B status as soon as possible. Many students and scholars will be subjected to a security clearance which will delay the visa application process by a few weeks. Check the “non-immigrant visa application section” of the website of the U.S. Embassy you plan to visit.

Canadian citizens do not require a visit to the U.S. Embassy. Your Form I-20 or Form DS-2019 for Form I-797 will be adjudicated at the Port of Entry. F-1 or J-1 or H-1B or TN status will be stamped in your passport at that time. You are, however, still required to pay the SEVIS fee, mentioned below and are also still required to present proof of payment of the SEVIS fee at the port of entry. You will also need to have a valid passport, birth certificate, academic credentials, UMass Lowell acceptance letter for students or Invitation or Contract Letter for Scholars as well as financial documentation which you provided our office.

If you are entering the U.S. on TN status from Mexico, you must apply for TN status at a U.S. Embassy, prepared with the same documentation as listed below.

Helpful links:
- Reciprocity Fees (applies to certain countries) https://travel.state.gov/content/visas/en/fees/reciprocity-by-country.html
- SEVIS Fee Payment Site (mentioned below)* - https://www.fmjfee.com/i901fee/

The U.S. Embassy will ask to see the UMass Lowell (UML) Acceptance Letter or if you are a Research Scholar you will need to present your (UML) Invitation Letter or Contract Letter, as well as the original Financial Documentation which you provided our office. The U.S. Embassy will question you on ties to your home country. They will try to determine whether you intend to permanently immigrate to the U.S. The F-1 and J-1 visa classifications do not allow for immigrant intent. The U.S. Embassy expects that you plan to return home after the completion of your studies. Please read the attached information to help you prepare for a successful visa application process.

- There is a SEVIS Fee that APPLIES TO ALL F-1 and J-1 students. The fee is $200 for F-1 Visa Applicants and $180 for J-1 Visa Applicants. You will need to prepay this fee and print a receipt of payment to present at the U.S. Embassy. Here are instructions on how to pay the fee, https://www.fmjfee.com/i901fee/. When you pay the SEVIS fee, you will need the UMass Lowell F-1 Program School Code, which is BOS214F00998000 or the J-1 Program #, which is P-1-03925. It will also ask you for your SEVIS #, which is on the upper, right-hand corner of your Form I-20 or Form DS-2019. The U.S. Embassy will deny the visa if you do not have a receipt of the SEVIS Fee payment.

- The SEVIS Fee DOES NOT apply to F-2, J-2, H-1, H-4 or TN visa holders. It only applies to F-1 and J-1 visa holders
Students should NOT enter in tourist status. Anyone entering in the “B” visa category will not be permitted to attend classes and will be asked to depart the U.S. and re-enter in the appropriate status.

Upon arrival at UMass Lowell, you will need to register with our office. We will review your visa documents to verify that you entered with the appropriate status. As an international student, the U.S. Citizenship & Immigration Services (USCIS) requires that you maintain full-time status at all times. Full-time status at our school equates to a minimum of 9 credits per semester for graduate students and 12 credits per semester for undergraduate students. The only exception to this rule will be during your final semester of studies. Certificate Candidates are required to maintain full-time status of a minimum of 9 credits per semester for the duration of your I-20 form. Our office will provide more immigration information upon your arrival.

Preparing for your U.S. Embassy Visa Appointment

1. Ties to Your Home Country
   Under U.S. law, all applicants for nonimmigrant visas, such as student visas, are viewed as intending immigrants until they can convince the consular officer otherwise. You must therefore be able to show that you have reasons for returning to your home country that are stronger than those for remaining in the United States. "Ties" to your home country are the things that bind you to your home town, homeland, or current place of residence: job, family, financial prospects that you own or will inherit, investments, etc. If you are a prospective undergraduate, the interviewing officer may ask about your specific intentions or promise of future employment, family or other relationships, educational objectives, grades, long-range plans and career prospects in your home country.

   Each person's situation is different, of course, and there is no magic explanation or single document, certificate, or letter which can guarantee visa issuance. If you have applied for the U.S. Green Card Lottery, you may be asked if you are intending to immigrate. A simple answer would be that you applied for the lottery since it was available but not with a specific intent to immigrate. If you previously overstayed an authorized stay in the United States, be prepared to explain what happened clearly and concisely, with documentation, if available.

2. English
   Anticipate that the interview will be conducted in English and not in your native language. One suggestion is to practice English conversation with a native speaker before the interview, but do NOT prepare speeches! If you are coming to the United States solely to study intensive English, be prepared to explain how English will be useful for you in your home country.

3. Speak for Yourself
   Do not bring parents or family members with you to the interview. The consular officer wants to interview you, not your family. A negative impression is created if you are not prepared to speak on your own behalf. If you are a minor applying for a high school program and need your parents there in case there are questions, for example about funding, they should wait in the waiting room.

4. Know the Program and How It Fits Your Career Plans
   If you are unable to articulate the reasons you will study in a particular program in the United States, you may not succeed in convincing the consular officer that you are planning to study, rather than to immigrate. You should also be able to explain how studying in the U.S. relates to your future professional career when you return home.

5. Be Brief
Because of the volume of applications received, all consular officers are under considerable time pressure to conduct a quick and efficient interview. They must make a decision on the impressions they form during the first minute of the interview. Consequently, what you say first and the initial impression you create are critical to your success. Keep your answers to the officer's questions short and to the point.

6. Additional Documentation
It should be immediately clear to the consular officer what written documents you are presenting and what they signify. Lengthy written explanations cannot be quickly read or evaluated. Remember that you will have 2-3 minutes of interview time.

7. Not All Countries are Equal
Applicants from countries suffering economic problems or from countries where many students have remained in the United States as immigrants will have more difficulty getting visas. Statistically, applicants from those countries are more likely to be intending immigrants. They are also more likely to be asked about job opportunities at home after their study in the United States.

8. Employment
Your main purpose in coming to the United States should be to study, not for the chance to work before or after graduation. While many students do work off-campus during their studies, such employment is incidental to their main purpose of completing their U.S. education. You must be able to clearly articulate your plan to return home at the end of your program. If your spouse is also applying for an accompanying F-2 visa, be aware that F-2 dependents cannot, under any circumstances, be employed in the United States. If asked, be prepared to address what your spouse intends to do with his or her time while in the United States. Volunteer work and attending school part-time are permissible F-2 activities.

9. Dependents Remaining at Home
If your spouse and children are remaining behind in your country, be prepared to address how they will support themselves in your absence. This can be an especially tricky area if you are the primary source of income for your family. If the consular officer gains the impression that your family will need you to remit money from the United States in order to support them, your student visa application will almost certainly be denied. If your family does decide to join you at a later time, it is helpful to have them apply at the same post where you applied for your visa.

10. Maintain a Positive Attitude
Do not engage the consular officer in an argument. If you are denied a student visa, ask the officer for a list of documents he or she would suggest you bring in order to overcome the refusal, and try to get the reason you were denied in writing.
Security Clearance Screening

Students from certain countries and fields of study are often times subjected to a Security Clearance. This is also known as Administrative Processing, https://travel.state.gov/content/travel/en/us-visas/visa-information-resources/administrative-processing-information.html

It is helpful to have certain documents ready when applying for a new visa or visa renewal if you are from a country which may undergo additional screening or if you are in a STEM field. Most STEM fields are listed in the government’s Technology Alert List (TAL).

The following is meant to help you be prepared in case you are asked to present additional documentation. Do Not, however, present it unless you are asked to do so. Some people may be asked to present some or all of the following:

- An invitation letter from your UMass Lowell Academic Department outlining the research that you will be involved in. The U.S. Embassy wants to be sure that you will not be integrally engaged in any research that is of a sensitive nature and that you and your Academic Supervisor will follow Export Control guidelines. The letter should include your research experience and background. If you are being funded by UMass Lowell, it is helpful to mention the amount of funding and the source of funding.

- Resume, when applicable, it should include a list of publications.

- Research/Study Plan, detailing your planned studies and research while in the U.S. It should include the name and email address of your advising professor and/or the department chair.

- Official Transcripts, Students who have already been studying in the U.S. and are applying for a visa renewal may be asked to submit their official transcripts.

- Information on your Academic Advisor, Students who have been issued a Teaching Assistantship and more importantly a Research Assistantship should print their Advisor’s Biography web page or request their Curriculum Vitae to be presented at the U.S. Embassy.
What to Pack to Bring to the U.S.

Legal Documents to have in your Possession:

You may be asked to present all the following at the Port of Entry, so have them easily accessible in your handbag along with your Airline Tickets:

- Passport (also keep a copy of your passport in your checked baggage and a keep a copy of it at home as well in case it is lost or stolen.)
- Visa Document (Form I-20 or Form DS-2019) – If the U.S. Embassy returned your visa document in a sealed envelope only to be opened by a U.S. official at a U.S. Port of Entry, please honor this.
- UMass Lowell Admissions Letter if you are an international student. If you are a Visiting Faculty or Research Scholar, the invitation letter or Appointment Letter from your UMass Lowell Hiring Department
- The Original Financial Documentation which you provided to U.S. Embassy or Consulate. If your funding is from UMass Lowell, then you should have a letter from your UMass Lowell Hiring Department outlining the details of your paid position or if a student, the details of your Research Assistantship or Teaching Assistantship.

I-94 Process

Starting April 30, 2013, U.S. Customs and Border Patrol (CBP) rolled out a new electronic I-94 process at air and sea ports of entry. Under the new CBP process, a CBP officer will provide each admitted nonimmigrant traveler with an admission stamp on their passport. CBP will no longer issue a paper Form I-94 upon entry to U.S., with some exceptions. Learn more on the CBP website.

How Much Money to Bring - Expected Expenses & Job Opportunities Upon Arrival

We recommend that you not carry any more than $300 in cash (the cash should include small bills and some coins). You may want to keep the cash in two separate areas easily accessible to you. Be aware of your personal belongings at all times during your travel. It is unsafe to carry a lot of cash, so please try not to carry more than $200-$300.

Students who have been offered a Teaching Assistantship or Research Assistantship for their arrival semester need to prepare for a waiting period before receiving their first paycheck. Our office will assist you to obtain a Social Security Number which can take 2-3 weeks to obtain. Your UMass Lowell hiring department will also need to process the internal paperwork to pay you. You might not be able to receive your first payment until one month after arrival.

Students who do not have a Teaching Assistantship or Research Assistantship will find it extremely difficult to find an on-campus job as they are scarce. As an international student you will not be eligible to apply for off-campus work authorization until you have successfully completed two consecutive semesters of full-time study. Students entering in Non-Degree status may have to wait longer than a one-year period before being eligible for off-campus work.

All off-campus work authorization must be approved by our office and the U.S. Citizenship & Immigration Services (USCIS). Please be mindful that you are entering the U.S. on a “student” visa. This means that USCIS expects your priority to be focused on your studies. For this reason, the USCIS regulations governing F-1 and J-1 student status are very limiting to off-campus work.

Winter clothing will be available at reasonable prices upon your arrival. However, if you’re coming from a warm climate be sure to dress appropriately for your arrival and transportation from airport to hotel. This includes appropriate winter shoes that are closed and do not slip on ice. You will need winter boots but will be able to purchase those upon arrival. Do bring, gloves, a scarf and a winter hat. You should bring a winter blanket as well for your bedding.’

What to Expect at a U.S. Port of Entry

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) governs the Student and Exchange Visitor Program (SEVP). They are charged with facilitating your entry and monitoring your status in the U.S. while you take advantage of our nation’s academic, educational, and cultural offerings. To enhance security without slowing legitimate travel, careful planning and preparation by international students and scholars will ensure minimal processing delay.

PLAN YOUR ARRIVAL

You may be refused entry into the United States if you attempt to arrive more than 30 days before the program start date listed on your Form I-20 (for F-1 visitors) or Form DS-2019 (for J-1 visitors).

ALWAYS HAND-CARRY YOUR DOCUMENTS

Do not check the following documents in your baggage. If your baggage is lost or delayed, you will be unable to present the documents at your port of entry. As a result, you may not be able to enter the United States

1. Your passport, valid for at least six months beyond the date of your expected stay;
2. SEVIS Form I-20 (for F-1 visitors)
3. SEVIS Form DS-2019 (for J-1 visitors)

In addition, it is strongly recommended that you also hand carry the following documentation:

1. Evidence of financial resources;
2. For new students or Visiting Scholars, your UMass Lowell Invitation Letter or Admissions Letter;
3. For new students or Visiting Scholars, paper receipt of the SEVIS fee payment;
4. For continuing student, evidence of student status, such as recent tuition receipts and transcripts;

For comprehensive information on procedures for traveling and arriving in the United States, visit:
http://www.dhs.gov/files/crossingborders/travelers.shtm
COMPLETE YOUR ENTRY PAPERWORK

If Arriving By Land or Sea: The Customs Border Patrol (CBP) Officer at the port of entry will provide the necessary Customs Declaration Forms (CF-6059) and Arrival-Departure Record Form (I-94) will be able to be accessed after arrival.

All visitors entering the United States must state their reason for wishing to enter the country. You will also be asked to provide information about your final destination. It is important that you tell the CBP Officer that you will be a student. Be prepared to include the name and address of the school program where you will enroll/participate.

FOLLOWING ADMISSION INTO THE UNITED STATES

Students and scholars should report to their school within 30 days of the start date listed on your Form I-20/DS-2019. You are not permitted to enter the U.S. earlier than the 30-days prior to the start date. You are also not allowed to enter any later the arrival dates listed on the Form I-20 or Form DS-2019.

SECONDARY INSPECTION REQUIREMENTS

If the CBP officer at the port of entry cannot initially verify your information or you do not have all of the required documentation, you may be directed to an interview area known as “secondary inspection.” Secondary inspection allows inspectors to conduct additional research to satisfy any questions they may have.

The inspector will first attempt to verify your status by using the Student and Exchange Visitor Information System (SEVIS). This is an electronic database tracking system.

Failure to comply with U.S. government entry-exit procedures may result in the denial of entry to the United States. Under certain circumstances, the CBP officer may issue a “Notice to Student or Exchange Visitor” Form (I-515A), which authorizes temporary admission into the United States. If you are issued a Form I-515 upon arrival, please visit our office immediately as this form will need immediate follow up.

Be sure to attend the Mandatory Immigration Clearance held by the ISSO upon your arrival. We will review your visa documentation to ensure that you entered in proper status.

US-VISIT - All nonimmigrant visitors holding visas -- regardless of race, national origin, or religion -- participate in the US-VISIT program, a comprehensive registration system tracking entries to and exits from the United States. Possible Funding Sources for International Students

Graduate Assistantships (Teaching Assistant-TA and Research Assistant - RA)

Very few departments fund international students for teaching assistantships (TA) in their first semester. Generally speaking, to qualify for a teaching assistantship you need to complete at least one semester with a higher than average GPA. (A minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 is required of all TAs and RAs). If the department has funding available for the spring semester, you might be able to get an assistantship. However, assistantships are typically awarded in the fall semester. If you are interested in a TA or RA position, it would be helpful for you to talk to your department’s Graduate Coordinator and other faculty members as they will know if any funding is available. In some instances a Research Assistantship (RA) may be available in the Spring for someone with very strong research qualifications. Speak with your Graduate Coordinator or Department Chairperson to inquire whether there are any RA positions available and what the requirements are.

Loan Options

Note: This list is provided merely as a possible suggestion for funding options. Our office is not responsible for, nor officially recommending, any of these programs and is not affiliated with any of the below companies. Further, although we try our best this list is not maintained on a regular basis so links or other contact information are subject to change. Please feel free to let us know if you find a listing that is no longer in operation.

A few US banks will offer student loans to international students if the loan is co-signed by a creditworthy US citizen or permanent resident (holder of a "green card"). There may also be restrictions on the type of visa (F1 or J1). In addition to the loans listed below, certain international students (i.e., permanent US residents with a green card) may be eligible for Federal Stafford and PLUS loans.

Global Student Loan Corporation (GSLC). GSLC offers student loans for international students that do not require a US citizen or permanent resident to co-sign the loan. (A co-signer in the student's home country may be required. Often this co-signer is the student's parent or guardian.) GSLC works with financial institutions and banks located in the student's home country to provide financing for the student's education. GSLC’s President is Dr. Keith Jepsen, formerly the Director of Financial Aid at New York University. Currently more than three dozen schools participate in the GSLC loan program. Their website also includes an International Student Planner. For more information, visit the GSLC web site, call 1-212-736-9666, fax 1-212-736-6536, send an email to info@globalslc.com, or write to Global Student Loan Corporation, 350 Fifth Avenue, Suite 2416, New York, NY 10118 USA. Their website address is http://www.globalslc.com/.

International Student Loan Program (ISLP) and Study Abroad Loan Program (SALP). ISLP is an alternative loan program for international students to study at approved US colleges and universities. SALP is an alternative loan program for US citizens to study abroad. The loans offered by InternationalStudentLoan.com are funded by PNC Bank and guaranteed by The Education Resources Institute (TERI). Students may borrow up to the full cost of education, including tuition, fees, and room and board. The minimum loan amount is $1,500 per academic year. Students may take up to 25 years to repay the loan. There is a $25 minimum payment and some deferment provisions. A creditworthy US citizen or permanent resident must co-sign the loan. For more information, call 1-617-328-1565 or fax 1-617-328-0615, write to InternationalStudentLoan.com, 15 Cottage Ave, Fifth Floor, Quincy, MA 02169, or send an email to service@internationalstudentloan.com. Massachusetts Educational Financing Authority (MEFA). The Massachusetts Educational Financing Authority offers the MEFA Loan program for foreign students attending one of more than 80 participating colleges and universities in Massachusetts. Canadian students may borrow without a US cosigner, and a US cosigner is required for all other foreign students. Families may borrow up to the full cost of education and the repayment term is 15 years, with a fixed interest rate (currently 6.85%) and there is no penalty for prepayment. MEFA is able to offer such a low interest rate because they are non-profit and exempt from federal and state tax. MEFA also has a free guide to colleges and universities in Massachusetts. For more information, call 1-800-842-1531 or 1-617-261-9760, fax 1-617-261-9765, write to MEFA, 125 Summer Street, Suite 1450, Boston, MA 02110, or send email to info@mefa.org. Norwest Bank (1-703-749-0131 or the financial aid department at 1-800-366-6227). These MBA loans are for graduate business and medical students who are international students. For more information write to Norwest Bank/HEMAR Insurance Corp., GMAC, 2400 Broadway Suite 320, Santa Monica, CA 90404-3064.

When evaluating a loan program, it is important to carefully compare the costs. Some loans have interest rates pegged to the 91-day T-Bill Rate. Others use the Prime Lending Rate which is approximately two to four percentage points higher.

Explore Loan Programs in your Home Country

Don’t overlook resources in your home country. Begin exploring these opportunities as soon as possible as it may be easier to apply before you leave for the United States.

For example, the Bank of Beijing has a loan program specifically for Chinese nationals studying abroad (see: http://www.bankofbeijing.com.cn).

Students from Germany who are looking at loan options should look at: http://www.bildungskredit.de or http://www.auslandsbafoeg.de.
