Thought Made Visible

LOWELL, Mass. - The UMASS Lowell Department of Art & Design is pleased to announce an exhibition of upper level work from Laurel McMechan’s Thought Made Visible Seminar. Thought Made Visible, organized and curated by featured artists and senior art students Elisabeth Auffant and Teresa Santana, will be open from Nov. 16 – Dec. 7, 2017. A reception for the artists will take place on Thursday, November 16 from 5 - 7:00 p.m. in the upstairs Mahoney Gallery in Mahoney Hall, room 213.

Thematically, much of the subject matter in this show revolves around each student’s own personal insights and individual exploration of the self. Featured artists include Elisabeth Auffant, Victoria Belakhov, Rebecca Dolan, Veronica Iria, Teresa Santana, Danielle Wager and Austin Wells. Thought Made Visible promotes individuality, experimentation and process which led to the use of a wide variety of different mediums that make up the work in this exhibition; including oil paint, printmaking and ceramics.

The artists featured in this show either graduated from UMASS Lowell last year with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Studio Art or are currently seniors set to graduate in the spring.
