What will I do at a Young Nurse of the Future Club meeting?

One day you might bandage a fictional wound on your friend and learn how nurses prevent infections, while another day you may learn what your nerves do in a human body and make a life-size map of your own nervous system. You might learn not only what good nutrition is, but also why nurses teach patients about nutrition and exercise. Each month there will be a new hands-on activity that will give you a chance to experience what you might do working as a nurse.

When can I join?

The clubs start in the fall. Contact your guidance counselor to sign up.