PERSONAL STATEMENT

I am a Medical and Cultural Anthropologist with extensive training in qualitative methods. I am an experienced fieldworker with substantial fieldwork studying indigenous women’s reproductive health in Australia. I use ethnographic methods, interviews and direct observation to work on health services and implementation research.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

- Nov. 2017 Training Institute on Dissemination and Implementation Research (TIDIRH) NIH and VA Sponsored training. Bethesda, MD.

METHODOLOGICAL TRAINING

- June 2012 Qualitative Data Management Software Training, Two Day NVIVO® Workshop
- July 2012 Implementation Science Training via CyberSeminar, Enhancing Implementation Science in VA. Training covered: overview of implementation science and programs of implementation research, theoretical frameworks and design of implementation strategies and programs, evaluation designs and methods.
- Sept. 2012 Qualitative Data Management Software Training, Two Day Atlas.ti® Webinars

UNIVERSITY SERVICE

- 2017-present Student methodological consultations, Boston University School of Public Health, Department of Health Law, Policy & Management
