The Department of Accounting at the Manning School of Business accreditation by the Association of Certified Chartered Accountants (ACCA) in the UK.

The ACCA Accreditation Certificate

The ACCA has agreed that UMass Lowell, Manning School of Business accounting students (BSBA, MSA and Certificate) who will graduate on or after May, 2018 - will be exempt from nine ACCA courses (where a maximum of nine exams are eligible for exemption to gain the ACCA qualification). This symbolizes that our accounting students receive professional knowledge which equips them to be competent candidates in global job market.

The ACCA accreditation reflects the strength of the undergraduate, graduate, certificate accounting programs. The ACCA courses’ exemption is an evident of the quality of the accounting courses delivered and reflects how the program incorporates practical and professional aspects which help our students to become knowledgeable accounting professionals.

The ACCA accreditation recognizes that UMass Lowell accounting program meets the quality educational standards required to enable students to progress in their professional career.
