

Guidelines for Responses to Demonstrations on University Property

The University of Massachusetts recognizes the rights of members of the University community to freedom of assembly and speech, and strongly believes in fostering discourse and the free exchange of ideas at the University. However, as a matter of law and University policy these rights and interests are restricted, and must be exercised on University property in a manner consistent with the mission and operation of the University and the rights of other members of the University community. Accordingly, the University long ago adopted policies and procedures at each of its campuses which take into account these countervailing interests.

All campuses shall routinely and consistently apply the provisions of their respective codes of conduct and other relevant policies and procedures to on-campus demonstrations. The campuses shall take steps through appropriate procedures to hold demonstrators accountable for actions which violate University policies and regulations. Such improper actions include but are not limited to:

- Material disruption of or interference with instructional activities, other University business and campus events;
- Actual or threats of physical violence, or other forms of harassment, or destruction of University, other public or private property;
- Interference with free entry to or exit from University facilities and free movement by individuals; and
- Interference with the rights of other members of the University community to freedom of speech and assembly, and other rights.

Demonstrations are limited to specified, appropriate public forums, which do not include, among other locations, faculty and administrative offices, classrooms and other instructional facilities. To the extent that a public forum exists within a University building, any demonstration within that forum shall take place only during the building's normal operating hours.

If determined by the University; staff and police will be present throughout to insure appropriate adherence to policy by this outside group.

Where appropriate, the University shall endeavor to maintain open lines of communication with demonstrators and to provide opportunities for discussion of matters in dispute so long as the demonstrators act consistent with University policy and the rights of others. However, as a general rule the University shall not negotiate with individuals who occupy any University facility, or with associated demonstrators, while any such occupation continues, and shall never negotiate within an occupied facility.

These guidelines are intended to support, not supplant, existing University policy. They apply to all members of the University community, including undergraduates, graduate students and employees, as well as to guests and visitors. The guidelines should be implemented as consistently as possible, recognizing that special circumstances may on rare occasions require limited and judicious deviation from the guidelines.

In order to provide an atmosphere in which groups and organizations can function without disrupting the University's curricular programs, the following restrictions on the time, demonstration place and manner of no curricular activities at UML Therefore, no person/organization shall:

- Impede the progress of passersby.
- Harass, detain or otherwise try to coerce anyone to take material or make transactions.
- Interfere with impair or impede with the flow of vehicular or pedestrian traffic, classes, events or normal and essential college operations.
- Use amplified sound or music of any type.
- Solicit donations of money, through direct requests for funds, sales, or otherwise.
- Solicit or provide information for the purpose of requests for funds, sales, or otherwise.